AMENDMENTS OF LA FOLLETTE LOST.

Twenty-Four Changes in Wool Schedule Defeated.

Cummins Sure the Finance Committee is Wrong.

WASHINGTON, June 11—At 2:15 this afternoon the Senate voted down the 24 amendments to the wool schedule offered by Senator La Follette. The vote was 32 to 44.

LaFollette declared that by his course on the wool schedule Senator Aldrich had forfeited the confidence of other Republican Senators and impeached his own leadership.

Sixty one Senators were on hand at the beginning of the session today, when consideration of the tariff was resumed. Numerous amendments offered by Mr. La Follette, providing ad valorem for specified duties on the wool schedules, were promptly taken up for the purpose of voting on them "en bloc," as Vice President Sherman announced.

Senator Cummins, asking the floor, said he would vote for these amendments not so much because he was satisfied that they were exactly right, but because he was absolutely sure the schedule reported by the finance committee was absolutely wrong. Mr. Cummins announced that he would move to re-commit the wool schedule to the finance committee, with instructions to report it to the Senate with the duties on wool unchanged, but with compensating duties on woolen manufacturers that will measure the difference between the price paid by their chief foreign competitors, and also that it be reported back with a provision directing that the duties be levied so as to show the difference of the cost of production at home and abroad.

Arguing the point of his plan for a compensatory duty on products of woolen manufacturers, to allow them to pay a higher price for wool than do their foreign competitions, Senator Cummins said that to levy a duty on goods partly of cotton, as if entirely of wool, would be to give domestic manufacturers an advantage that no man should have. He admitted in reply to a question by Mr. McCumber that he did not pretend to frame a schedule by which the different grades of wool in the cloth could be taxed in accordance with their value.

Senator Warren opposed the plan of the Iowa Senator declaring it would unduly encourage the importation of shoddy material. "And," added the Wyoming Senator, "this is not a shoddy nation." Mr. Cummins declared that he marvelled at the "Blindness of the leaders of the Republican party that they were willing to commit the party to such a woolen schedule."

"Senators," he said, "you are simply courting the destruction of your party by allowing such a schedule to go out of the country."

WINNER OF NATIONAL CONTEST.

Balloon University City Covers Distance of 382 Miles.

NEW YORK, June 11.—The balloon University City of St. Louis, with John Berry and John McCullough aboard, is the winner of the national balloon contest, which started Saturday from Indianapolis. Official reports from the contestants were before the Aero Club of America today and show that the University City covered a distance of 382 miles, landing six miles south of Fort Payne, Miss. The balloon, New York, manned by A. Holland Forbes and Captain Harmon of New York, was second in the distance contest, landing two and one half miles south of Corinth, Miss., covering a distance of 353½ miles. The New York will be awarded the prize for the longest period in the air, being in flight 35 hours and ten minutes, unless an unexpected protest is made.

The official announcement of the winners will not be made public until next week when the Aero Club will have an opportunity to examine government maps, which have been requested of the authorities at Washington so the distances may be known.

Press reports from Corinth, Miss., and Fort Payne, Ala., that the New York landed three miles north of Corinth, and the University City landed six miles south of Fort Payne, have been verified. Scaled on two sets of government maps, it is shown, according to the News that the University City's flight was a fraction less than 357 miles; the New York's a fraction under 355 miles.

The New York receives the duration trophy on its flight of 35 hours, 10 minutes. No records were broken in the races.

FOREST FIRES RAGE IN NEW BRUNSWICK

Thousands of Dollars' Worth of Timber Destroyed.

Special Trains Sent There to Check Flames.

ST. JOHN, New Brunswick, June 11. Forest fires raged unchecked today along the north shore of New Brunswick, and a thick pall of smoke overhung the entire province of New Brunswick obscuring the face of the sun. Rain is now the only hope of the lumber men and timberland owners, and unless showers come soon, thousands of dollars worth of valuable timber will be destroyed.

Despatches received today from New Castle indicate that conditions are alarming. At Lockstead men have been fighting vainly night and day to get the fires under control. A large tract of timberland owned by the Miramichi Pulp Company at Bushy's Siding is being destroyed, and along the Richibucto road there is a stretch of five miles where timber areas on both sides of the road are in flames. Great anxiety is felt for the people residing in this district as help can not reach

A special train with a large crowd of men left New Castle last night to fight a fire in the vicinity of Rogersville. Another special train was sent up on the Canada Eastern Line to try and check the fires.

Another fire is raging near Texas river, in York county, which is destroying large timber areas. The weather today was hot with very little wind. Reports from other sections of the province tell of fires which are still burning, although not so serious nor destructive as those along the north shore and in Northumberland county.

The fire at Westfield, in Kings county, about ten miles from St. John's is now within two miles of the summer colony at Westfield Beach.

A special despatch from Fredrickton says a saw mill near Millville in York county owned by George C. Upham, M. P. was burned last night.

It is estimated 1,000,000,000 feet of standing timber was destroyed yesterday near Doyne Ridge, and today the flames are sweeping through a 9,000 acre tract of timberland owned by John A. Weatherbee and others, of Bangor, Me.

SUFFERED SERIOUS LOSSES.

Kingston Savings Bank Closed by the Commission.

PROVIDENCE, June 11.—The Kingston Savings Bank, at Kingston, was closed this afternoon by order of Bank Commissioner William P. Goodwin. Serious losses suffered by the failure of the banking firm of E. H. Gay & Co. of Boston, Commissioner Goodwin stated, were the direct cause of the bank's condition. He believed the depositors would all be paid in full.

In a statement this afternoon regarding the closing of the bank, Commissioner Goodwin said he had made an examination June 1 and discovered that the bank's financial affairs were seriously impaired by the Gay failure. He at once conseulted with the board of bank corporation and this afternoon closed its doors. He said he would apply to the courts for a temporary receiver at once.

WHOLESALERS WARNED.

Must Stop Supplying Unlicensed Liquor Places.

Commission Declares That Peddling From House to House Must Cease.

There was a large attendance of wholesale liquor dealers at an invitation meeting of the License Commission at the City Hall Thursday evening. They were not forewarned as to what the board desired to say, and when the members of the board did talk some of them attempted to bolog the real issues by general discussions and smooth remarks on the business and its welfare. After the meeting some gathered in the mist on the sidewalk without to give vent to their feelings, with Mayor Hoyle and some of the aldermen as listeners.

The members of the board were not in a mincing mood. They said they desired the house-to house soliciting or peddling of beer and liquor stopped, they wished the wholesalers to stop supplying unlicensed places, and deprecated the use of so much billboard space for beer and ale advertisements.

There were admissions by the wholesalers of having solicitors out, but none admitted selling to illegal places. After the meeting one asked how the latter was to be controlled; he did not intentionally supply such. This caused the secretary to produce a typewritten list, from which he read the names of places which he charged were supplied by this dealer. The list was a surprise.

More than an hour was consumed, at the end of which, regardless of the talk, the board had not lost sight of the purpose for which it had called the meeting, and said so. It was stated that all present must understand the situation, and probably knew what the board could do if its demands were not adhered to—a threat to cancel licenses.

The meeting opened by Chairman P. J. Murphy stating that the board had received complaints that a house-to-house canvass was being made, for the sale of liquor. The board desired this to stop, and thought it would be better for the business if it ceased. They also learned that there was a new firm of wholesalers, working under government license, created under a local license, bringing the total number in excess of Newport's quota.

Secretary Commerford said some wholesalers were doing retail business from house to house, and that it was the demand of the board that this stop immediately. He called to mind the fact that last February the dealers were warned by letter not to sell to unlicensed places. Some gave the letter little or no attention.

Mr. Mahan said he thought it well to speak strongly. The board refused 17 places. They are still doing business and are supplied by the wholesalers. The board does not propose to stand for it any longer. He was in favor of taking action very soon. As to the advertising matter on billboards, it is very distasteful. How much does it increase the trade?

Mr. Garrettson and Mr. Clarke of Acker, Merrill & Condit did not think any. Mr. Denniston said this is not controlled by local dealers. His company advertised in years past, but now there are about 11 others, and if this had been anticipated his company would not have contracted.

Chairman Murphy said Newport has the paper of Fall River, New Bedford and such places. He doubted if wholesalers had right to solicit business except from licensed places.

Mr. Denniston asked what right a wholesaler has. He doubted if they could solicit, but Providence dealers solicit here and deliver direct.

Mr. Garrettson asked what Lawyer Nolan had to say about the law.

Mr. Nolan said any person has a right to solicit, and then have delivery made by licensed dealer.

Mr. Commerford said the board wished peddling stopped, and so proposed.

There was discussion regarding the limits for retailers and for wholesalers and the wording of the licenses was discussed.

Mr. Denniston said competition is very keen this year. Heretofore he had only sent out that which was ordered; this year before an order could be brought in and filled some one else delivers from extra stock on a wagon, and others must carry extra supply to meet the conditions.

Mr. Nolan said selling from a wagon is clearly illegal.

Mr. Horgan didn't think any dealer cared to peddle on the streets. The business is bad enough, any way.

Mr. Commerford asked: "How about your personal case, where you have a man out peddling?"

Mr. Horgan said it did not seem right for a wholesaler to be debarred from taking orders while a grocery man can. Perhaps some of the dealers' men had been doing wrong without the knowledge of the principals. He believed in the preservation of the good name of the city, and said Mr. Garrettson had done the city more harm than all the liquor dealers. His writings have been copied far and wide. Families will not come to such a place as he described.

Mr. Commerford interrupted, saying it was no place for such personalities or for such discussion.

Mr. Horgan continued. None are perfect, but there is no sense in claiming that most of us are wrong all the time. He believed Newport to be the best conducted place. The liquor dealers are respectable and honorable, and try to do as near right as any other merchant. He said their profits are not near what people think. The wrong done is done unwittingly. He didn't doubt but Mr. Garrettson's men do it.

Mr. Commerford said two wrongs do not make a right, and the board says these methods of business must stop.

The other dealers were asked if they had anything to say on the matter of peddling. If they had they kept it to themselves and the board took up the matter of sales to illegal retailers, against which an unheeded warning had been issued in February.

Mr. Commerford said it seemed to be up to the wholesalers to protect themselves and the retailers who pay a license fee. You wholesalers are now supplying the unlicensed places. You place the burden of such selling on the licensed retailers, whose trade you also seek, and upon the executives of the city. It is up to you to stop it. When you do you will obtain your money from the regular places easier.

Mr. Garrettson said the whole question settles down to the real interests of Newport. Let by-gones be by-gones and let us stand by our duty in the future, whatever may have been done in the past. As a matter of business ethics, we should decide to stand by the law. The prohibition wave is increasing. Fall River and New Bedford have gone that way, because of the high-handed methods of the dealers. Look at the disgrace of Tiverton. The people know the law. You cannot receive them. They will resort to it if forced. We cannot expect to break down the law, for if that is lost all will be lost in this country.

As liquor men we should stand by the authorities, to see that the law is enforced and to render our assistance. We will make as much money, do as much business and have less trouble. If we deliver to one who sells illegally we cannot force collection, for it is an unlawful traffic. We should stand by the city and see that it is kept decent. We know the illicit joints. We have the power to stop them. Let's start in tonight to make the business what it should be; elevate it, not degrade it. Certainly we should stand by the commissioners.

Mr. Horgan said the business should not be carried on unlike other business. It is the duty to give the town a good name. A good name is its chief asset. It kills the town to give it a bad name. The liquor business is carried on here in the best possible manner.

Mr. Mahon—"If we agreed with you we would not call you here tonight. We do not think the conditions are good."

Mr Horgan—"Last winter the Representative Council drew comparisons with other cities. It seemed as if we were extravagant, but upon more careful view we find Newport so far

TILLMAN'S PITCHFORK.

He Still Has It Ready For Use and He Used it on Aldrich.

The Way Johnston Explained a Situation to Constituents—Food For Legislators.

[Washington Correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Senator Tillman of South Carolina is getting back his old vigor and taking more part in the debates of the Senate than he did during a part of last year. Recently he had a little passage with Senator Aldrich in connection with Senator Stone's criticism of the action of the Rhode Island statesman in reflecting upon Germany in an address to the Senate. The speech pertained to a report made on tariff rates and wages by the German government.

"There must be something in it the senator does not like," said Senator Tillman. "I am of the opinion that the Senator has been verging on the brink of discourtesy and lack of respect in his remarks, and I want to get at the bottom of this thing. He seems set in his purpose to pass this tariff bill as he wants it, and this document seems to contradict some of his contention. For one, I cannot conceive as has been stated, that American wages are four times those paid in Germany. I am becoming more strongly convinced every day that the Senator from Maryland (Rayner) was right when he said awhile ago that there was a lot of lying going on in this tariff legislation. I have no private or special favors, and I want the Senate to have all the information I get."

One of the finest and best equipped kitchens in the world has been provided in connection with the office building for Senators. People who know what they are talking about say that the Senatorial kitchen is capable of turning out if necessary well cooked food on short notice for not less than 3,000 people. Of course there is room for a restaurant also in the building, but some doubt is expressed as to whether it will be operated unless the Senators should guarantee a manager that he could get a living out of the undertaking. A cafe already is open in the office building for Representatives, but it is not paying. The Senate restaurant in the building for Senators would not be open to the public, as is the present one in the capitol, and that is why there is such doubt about it. No one seems anxious to take it.

The other day some Alabamians walked into the rooms of Senator Johnston in the new Senate building. They were simply dazed at the luxurious furnishings and showed plainly by their expressions that they wondered at all this extravagance on the part of the government for the members of the upper branch of Congress. The Senator is a very quick witted man, and he promptly said to his callers, who were all Democrats: "Oh, you need not charge me with being a party to the outlay for this building! The Republicans alone are responsible. They arranged for the building long before I was sent to Washington. But I do not know of any law that can prevent me from enjoying the luxury that was simply pushed upon me by the Republicans. Sit down gentlemen, in some of these easy leather chairs with mahogany frames, bought with the people's money so that Senators might be better able to transact the public business."

Senator Johnson of North Dakota has had the unique record of succeeding the same man in both branches of Congress. Years ago he was sent to the House in place of Mr. Hainsbrough, who was elected to the Senate, and on March 4 of this year Mr. Johnson stepped into the Senatorial shoes of the former. While Johnson was in the house he belonged to the "silent club," and really most people here had forgotten that he ever served in that body. He was, however, one of those quiet workers who stood well with the people of his state, as has been shown by his getting to the Senate. Johnson was born of Norwegian parents in Wisconsin and is very solid with the Scandinavian vote, which is large in his state. Hainsbrough claimed that the harvester trust relegated him to private life.

The average officer who retires from the army or navy settled down to ease with no thought of getting down to business, no matter how strong he may be physically. But there are some who do not relish an inactive life. A conspicuous example is Major General Charles Humphrey, who retired from the service as quartermaster general. He was the head quartermaster during the Spanish-American war and out in China during the troubles in that country, in addition to putting in several years in the Philippines. General Humphrey is working just as hard as ever in the employ of a corporation that pays him much more than he gets as a retired major general.

Charles W. Arthur.

TIVERTON.

At the regular meeting of the court of probate and town council, George B. Stafford was appointed administrator on the estate of Peleg S. Stafford; bond, $500, surety satisfactory to the Clerk; appraisers, John R. Hicks, Frank A. Reed, Alfred G. Springer.

Arthur W. Gray was appointed custodian of the estate of Frank C. Gray; bond, $1,000, with satisfactory surety.

In town council, Albert Walmsley was appointed to act for the town council on all matters in relation to the re-location of the tracks and extension of the switch of the Newport & Fall River Street Railway Company on Stove street and the macadamizing of the street; also to locate all street lights.

A. Lincoln Hambly was authorized, in behalf of the town council, to sign receipts for burial funds deposited with the town council, deposit the same in the Citizens Savings bank, Fall River, and sign all orders on them. Alonzo F. Hart was appointed a committee to have plans and specifications prepared for one mile of macadam road on the Cornell road and to advertise for bids to build it, which will be opened Saturday, July 3, 1909.

A. F. Hart, John Schiegel, Albert Walmsley and George F. Cottrell were appointed surveyors of highways.

Three notes of the town—one for $5,000, dated June 2; one for $5,000, dated June 15, and the third for $10,000, dated July 2, 1909—each payable six months from date to the Massasoit-Pocasset National bank, were approved.

Nelson Ray, Jr., of Fall River presented a petition that he be allowed to establish a rendering plant on land proposed to be owned by heirs of Sarah Cornell, on Fish road, or land adjoining. A hearing to all interested in the petition will be held July 5.

THREE FAST RACING YACHTS.

Regatta of New Rochelle Yacht Club Tomorrow Afternoon on Long Island Sound.

Cornelius Vanderbilt's Aurora, Henry F. Lippitt's Winsome and George M. Pynchon's Istalena—the three fast 57-foot yachts which did such good racing during the season of 1907—are entered for the twenty-fourth annual regatta of the New Rochelle Yacht Club, which is to be sailed over the club courses on Long Island sound tomorrow afternoon.

This is the first appearance of this class this season, and the first time the Winsome has been in commission since 1907. Sloops Aspirant and Gardenia and the new Odysseus are also entered, as well as some 30 others, so if there is a good breeze from any quarter the race should be the most interesting one of the season to date.

DEATH OF MRS. E. G. S. ALGER.

News has been received of the death in Wakefield Thursday of Mrs. Jane E. Alger, widow of Edwin G. S. Alger, for many years a resident and a well known matron of Newport. Mr. and Mrs. Alger removed from Newport 15 years ago to make their home with their youngest daughter, and Mr. Alger died a few years ago. Mrs. Alger had been in failing health for some time, and within the past two weeks became seriously ill with a disease of the brain and failed steadily. She was well known in Newport, where she spent the greater part of her life and made many friends by her helpful and companionable nature. She was a native of New Shoreham, coming to Newport at an early age. She leaves four children, J. Edwin Alger of South Weymouth, Mass., Mrs. Minnie G. Crandall, wife of Charles S. Crandall, and Mrs. Ida M. Barker, wife of H. Howard Barker, of this city, and Mrs. Grace E. Smith of Wakefield. The body will be brought to Newport, to be interred beside that of her husband in the Island cemetery.

THE NEW SCHOOL OF MARINE ENGINEERING.

Secretary Meyer has formally announced the details of the order establishing a school of marine engineering at Annapolis. While the ten officers annually to be assigned to the two-year course will be taken from those below the grade of lieutenant commanders the first class may include lieutenant commanders, and applications from them will be considered. The original idea was to establish the school as a course at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, but it was deemed preferable to have it more closely associated with the service.

BISHOP DOANE ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Addressing the graduating class of St. Agnes School, in Albany, on the subject of "Woman-hood," Bishop Doane had this to say on the woman suffrage question:

"I cannot count it necessary, and perhaps it is not wise for me to caution you against the loudly shrieked call to give women the right to vote and to be voted for. I am disposed to think that the quiet and decent appeal of a few of the so-called suffragists will be drowned in the sort of howling dervish performance of the so-called suffragettes, and that they will fall of any effect. At any rate, the argument should be addressed rather to legislators than to you, except so far as one is justified in saying here to you that your womanhood will gain nothing by suffrage and is losing every day in its dignity and its true influence by the hysterical clamor which is employed in the pursuit of this chimera."

PACKING WITH FERNS.

[Eternal Progress.]

It has recently been discovered that the leaves of the fern plant, which grows almost anywhere, is an excellent preservative for packing articles of food, fruit and even meat. It is said that on the Isle of Man fresh herrings are packed in ferns and arrive on the market in as fresh a condition as when they were shipped. A number of experiments have demonstrated that potatoes packed in ferns keep many months longer than those packed in straw. In fact potatoes packed in fern leaves are as fresh in the springtime as when they were first dug in the fall.

Nature Tells You.

As Many a Newport Reader Knows Too Well.

When the kidneys are sick,
Nature tells you all about it.
The urine is nature's calendar.
Infrequent or too frequent action:
Any urinary trouble tells of kidney ills.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills.

Newport people testify to this.

Peleg S. Bosworth, Retired, 35 Spring Street, Newport, R. I., says: "My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills dates back some two or three years ago. At that time my kidneys were very weak and resulting from this condition was an almost constant pain in my back. The kidney secretions were also irregular in action and added greatly to my annoyance. Hearing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended, I was led to procure them at Wright & Hay's drug store and the results of their use were highly satisfactory. Should I ever have need to appeal to a kidney remedy again, I would at once get Doan's Kidney Pills, knowing that good results would follow their use. Several weeks ago I gave a box of this remedy to a friend who was suffering from kidney complaint and its use proved exceedingly beneficial."

THE WIND OF ARCADY.

[Burton Braley in Puck.]

A warm sweet breath is on my face
And, redolent with scents of spring,
It seems to follow every place
And sets the throat a-carolling.
While on it, borne across the leas,
The sound of music comes to me,
Faint, fragrant, fairy melodies—
It is the wind of Arcady!

It blows, and all the grit and grime
Of toil and town, of night and fray,
Vanish completely for the time,
By wanton breezes swept away.
Until, in all the world about,
Laughter and love are all I see,
It banishes despair and doubt—
The wind, the wind of Arcady!

Open your heart and let it in,
This wind of wonderland and youth,
Where fairy folk and men are kin
And rich romance is simple truth.
We age so fast, we die so soon,
Let us be young while that may be,
And youth trips in with magic shoon
Upon the wind of Arcady!

FANCIES.

Once a man with poor digestion
Ate some cork and carpet tacks,
Ate two lobsters without question,
Ate some tripe and sealing wax;
Ate some pickles by the quart, sir,
Ate of crabs an even score,
And when all supplies ran short, sir,
Still was famorous for more.
Did it hurt him? No, it cured him;
You may do as he did, too;
Mr. Fletcher had assured him
Of the virtue of a chew.
Chew the oysters, chew the chowder,
Chew the fish and chew the meat,
Chew the smallest crumb to powder,
Chew up every thing you eat;
Chew boiled rice and chew the curry,
Chew the pudding, chew the sauce,
Chow them slowly, never hurry;
Chew, for time is only dross.
Chewing's good for what may ail you;
Cures rheumatics, cures the gout;
Chew, and health will never fail you
While your jaws and teeth hold out.

ENFORCING THE LIQUOR LAW.

The action of the license commissioners to stop the illegal sale of liquors by the licensed wholesalers of the city, will meet hearty commendation from the law-abiding citizens of Newport. The wholesalers are licensed to sell at certain defined places and no where else, and hence have no right to sell from delivery wagons or to unlicensed retailers both of which it is quite evident that some of them have been doing. There is but one thing for the commissioners to do, if the illegal practice is continued—to revoke the licenses, and it looks as though the commissioners are determined to take this step if necessary.

The commissioners are held responsible for much that is wrong in the liquor business, but while they have little authority beyond the granting and revoking of licenses they can exert an influence which, if backed, as it doubtless is, by public sentiment, can do much to stop the undesirable practices in the business. The wholesalers who are doing an illegal business have been warned and a continuance of the practice will undoubtedly lead to more drastic measures. If the liquor business is to be carried on it should be carried on within the law and its requirements, and the commission will find the better part of the community behind it in its efforts to keep the traffic within bounds.

Another good idea is the reduction of the supply of beer lithographs seen about the city. The local dealers of course have nothing to do with these, as they come from the breweries. It is a question if they aid the local dealers to the extent of a single bottle of beer, and a statement from the local wholesale agents that these posters are distasteful to Newporters would probably result in no more being sent. A person does not need to be a member of a temperance society to feel dissatisfied over the superabundance of beer posters on the city billboards.

EXERCISE OF THE PARDONING POWER.

The News has several times called attention to the fact that the governors of this state are too free in the exercise of the pardoning power, and has uttered a protest at excessive and unwise use of clemency toward criminals whose crimes are of a serious nature and who have served only a small part of the terms to which they were sentenced by the judges of the high courts, after a fair trial and a verdict of guilty by a jury of their peers. Now the need of such a warning and the truth of its declaration that such free pardoning is dangerous have been shown by the report from New York state that Joseph Brennan, one of the Portsmouth car barn robbers, who was pardoned about a year ago, is under arrest in that state on the charge of highway robbery. This is a particularly strong case to point the evil of too liberal exercise of executive clemency, inasmuch as there was a protracted controversy over the matter when the pardon was proposed and evidence was submitted to the authorities here indicating that some of those who were interested in securing his freedom were not of too best character.

It is fortunate that the pardon was granted in this case with the provision that if the recipient failed to lead an exemplary life and returned to his former mode of living he would forfeit his freedom and be subject to imprisonment in this state again, to serve the remainder of his sentence. This does not change the fact that the pardoning power ought not to have been used in this case and that there was doubt enough concerning the advisability of taking that action to have warranted the chief executive in refusing to grant the petition so earnestly advocated by the friends of the prisoner and so strongly supported by paid attorneys working in his interests. The fact is that the case was an especially proper one for a declination on the part of the governor to give freedom to a criminal of the character of this man, who had such influences at work in his interests.

This experience ought to make governors more careful in the future than they have been in the past regarding the exercise of the power of pardon placed in their hands. For some years the chief executives, as The News has taken occasion to say before, have seemed to feel that they were obliged to grant a certain number of pardons each year, and in fact one recent governor stated that he was accustomed to free just about the same number each year while he was in office. Though the inference from such a statement and practice may not be that the official searched the lists of those for whom pardons were asked for enough to make up his usual number, it is evident to any one of sane mind that pardons should be granted only in special cases and not by wholesale, and only to a few and not to a fixed number each year.

The proper attitude of a governor should be, not how many criminals he shall pardon in a year, but how many deserve clemency and freedom. The exercise of the power should be limited to those who from serious sickness, family circumstances or false evidence are plainly deserving of freedom. That such has not been the position assumed in this relation by recent governors is evident from the number and character of the criminals who have been released. It is to be hoped that this present experience will lead to a wiser use of the pardoning power in the future and a greater discrimination in its exercise, and in fact to a thorough revision of the method of regarding the power of pardon, so that it shall be considered one to be exercised only in special and extreme cases and not in connection with a fixed number of criminals each year, without proper regard for the merits of the cases. Six or eight pardons a year, which is about the average record in this state recently, is on the face of the conditions too many for a state of the size and population of Rhode Island, and it is time for a reform in this matter.

MORE INFORMATION ABOUT TRUSTS.

We do not yet know all we ought to know about what constitutes an unlawful trust, or an illegal restraint of trade, but we are from time to time picking up information. The American Sugar Refining Company has just learned a good deal about the law from a federal court in New York.

One of the greatest sensations which Philadelphia has known for many years was the failure about three years ago of a great trust company whose president, of course one of the most eminent financiers in the city, committed suicide and was found to be a defaulter for about $7,000,000. A good deal of the money had been lent to a man named Segal, who was a highly speculative promoter. Among other things he had built an enormous sugar refinery and a majority of the stock was in his possession. It is likely that he built it as a "strike"—that is, for the purpose of forcing the American Sugar Refining Company to buy him out at a fancy price. However, it didn't work just that way.

He needed a pile of money to finance some of his other speculations, and through an intermediate party the Sugar Trust offered him a loan of a million and a quarter secured by his stock in his sugar refinery, on the stipulation that the lender was to name the directors, or the voting trust, while the loan remained unpaid. Then the middleman who negotiated the loan appointed himself and three of his clerks directors of the Philadelphia refinery, and they voted not to run it till the loan was repaid.

Of course that suppressed a competitor. Probably the trust could have bought out the Philadelphia concern lawfully, but that is not what it did. The receiver of the trust company, on account of its interest in the refinery, sued the Sugar Trust for damages of $10,000,000 for not operating the refinery in Philadelphia, and the penalties under the Sherman law are three times the actual damages. The case has just been settled out of court, which is a defeat for the Sugar Trust, and it is understood that it paid in cash and securities ten and a quarter millions rather than have the case go to the jury. We are making some progress in learning what is restraint of trade in violation of the law.

The biggest fight in the tariff discussion is likely to be over the issue between an income tax and a tax on corporation dividends, and as the Republican party in the Senate favors the latter it seems destined to be put into the bill. The line-up for the fight is President Taft and Senator Aldrich, backed by the Republican organization, on one side, and Senators Cummins and Bailey, backed by the "insurgents" Republicans and the Democrats, on the other. Senator Cummins expresses confidence—in his ability to hold his forces in line to the number of 17, while the Republican leaders express equal confidence that he will be unable to do so.

There seems no good reason for objection to the proposed location for a tuberculosis home. The site is such that patients can have friends call on them, and every one knows that with the care exercised by the Newport Hospital officials there can be no occasion for fear of contagion. One thing is surely true, that the present place is not fit for those unfortunate persons. The emergency hospital was built for an entirely different purpose from that for which it is now used, and it could not be made fit for all except at great cost. Even then, its administration would be attended by constant embarrassment.

The tete-a-tete between the wholesale liquor dealers and the license board should be productive of good. Undoubtedly prohibition in Fall River and the driving of liquor distributors to this city has brought in new ideas. It is well that the board early announces its disapproval of these methods.

Few men in public or private life have received more general and more deserved praise than Edward Everett Hale. He was honored in life and in death throughout the world.

The license commission may not be able to stop the liquor advertisements on the billboards, but the Representative Council can direct the police as to what will be admissible and demand that the chief censor all paper before it is posted, as is done in many cities.

It was a notable demonstration which was given by the Confederate Veterans to General Frederick D. Grant at Memphis, Tenn. Who says the war is not over?

Harvard and Yale are preparing for their annual boat race on the Thames. May the best crew win—as usual!

MUSICAL MAGAZINES.

The June number of the Musical Times is replete with good things, though, after the Haydn number of last month, it might not seem so. Two folk songs, "The Keel Row" (Old Border) and "The Mother's Lamentation" (Irish), are re-arranged by Thomas F. Dunhill, and "The Shadow of Life," by W. G. Alcock, adds one more to the long list of excellent part songs published by the old firm of Novello. The leading article is "Henry Watson—The Man, The Books, The Instruments." Dr. Watson's life, from the time when, at the infantile age of three years, he was thrown on the tender mercies of his mother, till the present, when he holds the office of professor of the Royal Manchester College of Music, reads like a fairy tale, while the description of his famous music library and collection of instruments is scarcely less interesting. "The Drum in English Literature," "Chorister Life in the Early Sixties" and "South Coast Municipal Orchestras" are other matters of interest.

The New Music Review presents the following attractive table of contents: Editorials, pertaining mostly to organ matters and thematic resemblances; Franz's Correspondence With Schumann, Concerts of the Month, At the Opera, New Books on Music, Facts, Rumors and Remarks, Foreign Notes, Scores and Score Reading, Daniel Gregory Mason; Translated Masses—Trinity's Musical Extravagance, G. Edward Stubb; May Festivals, Daniel Gregory Mason's "The Orchestral Instruments and what they do" is concluded, and there is a great deal about the Mark Andrews matter, pro and con.

The sudden death of Henry Wolfsohn, the prize competitions by Henry K. Hadley and Arthur Shepherd, whose performance was a brilliant success at the sixth biennial of the National Federation of Music Clubs last week, together with a full report of the doings of the Federation, with accompanying illustrations, occupy a large part of the issue of June 5, Musical America. The annual music festival at Cornell also receives attention. Robert Blum's exquisite mural decorations in Mendelssohn Hall, "Women Composers of America," and Marcia van Dresser's "hit" at Covent Garden, are the subjects of other pages. Arthur Farnwell continues his interesting papers, "The Wanderjahre of a Revolutionist," and there are a hundred other things, small and large, to interest and instruct the musical reader.

DESTRUCTION OF TREES.

[Conservation.]

There was a man who lived in New England, whose name was Legion. Nine-tenths of the time he tilled his land and mended stone fences, like a moral and intelligent being; and the tenth part of the time a madness came over him—an hereditary madness. He remembered subconsciously how his ancestors wrested the soil from the forests, and did battle with the foes that lurked in their depths, and he seized his axe and went forth to take vengeance upon the forest, for the hostile front it showed his elders. But the forest was gone, and the only soil he could find to wrest was beside the town roads, on each hand. This, then, he fell upon with right good will. There were oaks, and these he cut down wastefully two feet from the ground and scattered their branches about. There were walnuts and birches and beeches, and he felled them all, and hewed them into bits. There was red cedar, with its priceless worth, and its heart of fragrance; and this he hacked and haggled and utterly destroyed. Then he looked upon what he had done, and called it very good, and the madness left him. He never returned to finish clearing up the roadside. He never covered the bared rocks, or leveled the ragged banks. The ground bristled with stubble of trees, and their boughs rotted where they fell.

The only times when the man revisited the roadside were when he cast old stovepipes and broken china, in a heap, a few hundred yards from his dwelling.

What shall be done for the madness of this man? He is not to be greatly frighted with droughts or floods, and he has no regard in his heart for the landscape. He does not desire shade trees. Would legislation avail for his cure, or psychotherapy, or beating with many stripes? If this last were done speedily, there are still birches left by the roadsides wherewith to do it. But if he is not restrained before long, New England will be, here and there among its towns, in like condition with Japan, which has no need to make laws to protect its birds, because the birds are all slaughtered.

South Kingstown Constable Arrested for Bribery.

Site for a New Jewish Temple in Providence—Death of Veteran Militia Man.

James M. Taurgee, Jr., police constable in South Kingstown, was arrested Thursday afternoon by Sheriff John R. Wilcox of Washington county on four warrants each charging bribery in connection with the election held in the town June 1. John G. Clark, chairman of the Republican town committee, figured as the complainant in each case, and Rowland Hazard, Republican candidate for president of the town council, who with other Republican candidates was defeated, is declared to be behind the actions. Taurgee was arraigned before Frank G. Ferry, Justice of the peace, at Wakefield, and pleaded not guilty in each case. He was held in $500 bail in each case for hearing before Judge Nathan B. Lewis of the district court, at Wakefield next Monday. Security was furnished by Edmund Walker, town treasurer, chairman of the Democratic state central committee from South Kingstown. The voters whom Taurgee is alleged to have bribed at the election a week ago are all negroes. It is understood in South Kingstown that all four men made affidavits that Taurgee gave them $3.00 each to vote for the candidates on the Democratic town ticket. These affidavits are said to have been made and signed on the day of the election. Rumors were rife that other affidavits had been sworn to by voters who had been approached at the election, and there was talk that other bribery charges would take legal form in a day or so. With the exception of the Taurgee cases, however, it could not be ascertained that any other warrants had been issued for arrests. None had been placed in Sheriff Wilcox's hands, save those served yesterday afternoon, according to the sheriff himself.

The congregation Sons of Israel and David of Providence has purchased the property at the corner of Broad and Glenham streets for the purpose of erecting a large temple for that organization. The deeds to the two lots were passed Thursday and the work of construction of the new building will begin early in the fall. At present there is a city voting booth on the land and this will be moved to another location. The congregation has been holding services for many years at the temple built by the society at the corner of Friendship and Foster streets. The membership of the society, however, has outgrown the seating accommodations of the church building and it was decided recently to seek another location where a building sufficient for the needs of the congregation could be constructed. The old temple has been bought by the Swedish Baptist congregation and has a seating capacity of about 450. The new temple will have a seating capacity of 700. The plans for the proposed structure, at present in the tentative state, will be completed within a few weeks.

Captain Albert F. Brown, for 20 years a member of the First Light Infantry regiment of Providence and 10 years captain of Company C, is dead at his home at Peace Dale. Captain Brown came of an old Rhode Island family, which distinguished itself during revolutionary days. His great-great grandfather, Colonel Robert Brown, was the great-great grandson of Chad Brown, and served with distinction during the Revolutionary war. He was also a direct descendant of Major Ebenezer Adams. He was born at Greenport, Long Island, in 1862, and in 1884 married Esther P. Von Gottschalk, daughter of the late William Von Gottschalk of Providence, by whom he is survived. He was employed by the firm of Stone, Carpenter & Willson, architects, for a period of about two years, and later by Martin & Hall in the same line of business. He was a member of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Dr. Charles Olney Ballou, past department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, Department of Rhode Island, was 70 years old Thursday and celebrated the day quietly at his home in Providence, where he attended to professional business. A few friends called to congratulate the doctor on his successful refutation of certain ideas imputed to Dr. Osler and to refer to days of auld lang syne. Dr. Ballou is a native of Cumberland and a direct descendant of Mathurin Ballou. He was educated at Dudley Academy, Dudley, Mass., and taught school in this state and Massachusetts for several years. He was in the dry goods business in Detroit during the decade preceding the Civil war, but had returned to Rhode Island when the war broke out. He enlisted in Company I, Eleventh Rhode Island volunteers, and served through all the campaigns in which that command participated. He was mustered out in 1863 and the following year took up the manufacture of cotton goods at North Weare, N. H., and continued in that business for 10 years. During that period he served in the New Hampshire legislature and was prominent in public affairs in other ways there. Since 1874 he has lived in Providence. He was graduated from the medical department of Harvard University in June 1877, has practiced medicine since, and is still active in that profession. Dr. Ballou is a member of Prescott Post No. 1, Grand Army of the Republic, and was long prominent in the order, serving on the National Council of Administration in 1887, as medical director of the Department of Rhode Island for two years, as aide-de-camp on the national staff for eight years, president of the National Staff Association of the Department of Rhode Island, and successively department junior and senior vice commander, and commander of the department, holding the latter office in 1889. Dr. Ballou is a member of the Rhode Island Medical Association and Rising Sun Lodge A. F. and A. M.

Further plans for making a thorough survey of the whole taxation field were made Thursday at a session of the state joint special committee on taxation. Chairman Robert S. Franklin of this city presided. Clerk Towle reported that 2,000 circulars, asking the views of the public on the subject of taxation, had been mailed to persons who might be interested, and that 200 more are being prepared. He was authorized to procure copies of the Massachusetts Tax Report of 1908 and similar publications in other states. Arrangements were made to secure a number of copies of the report of Commissioner of Corporations Herbert Knox Smith on the subject of the taxation of manufacturing mercantile, transportation and transmission corporations.

Yesterday was the twenty-fifth anniversary of Herbert J. Wells's service as president of the Rhode Island Hospital Trust Company. The directors presented to Mr. Wells a gold watch and chain. The watch bears this inscription: "1884—June 10—1909. Rhode Island Hospital Trust Company to Herbert Johnson Wells, president for 24 years, in grateful recognition of faithful and efficient service."

Governor Pothier has received from a Boston promoter a communication asking what inducements the cities and towns of the state will offer a concern which manufactures automobiles and automobile accessories, and which desires to locate in this state. It needs a building 100 by 250, two stories in height, with from 40,000 to 60,000 feet of floor space, and with opportunities for extension. The promoter stated that it would employ between 200 and 300 mechanics of the highest grade. Governor Pothier will refer the communication to the business men's associations of the various cities.

The plans of the French-Canadians of New England, who are making arrangements to hold an elaborate celebration of St. John's Day in Providence June 24, as a special mark of honor to Governor Pothier, conflict somewhat with plans already made by him for that day. The governor has promised to attend the Eagles' celebration at Fitchburg, Mass., June 23 and 24. He will be able to return early enough on the evening of the twenty-fourth, however, to be present at any functions planned for that time.

It has been decided to increase the daily manufacture of tennis shoes at the factory of the National India Rubber Company at Bristol, by 100 cases per day. This will probably result in the force in the department being increased materially. The company is now beginning on an order from the government for 32,000 army blankets, which may take several months to fill.

ATTORNEY CENSURED.

Wrote a Letter Which the Court Pronounced Not Creditable.

Jamestown Case, to Recover Land, Shows Some Peculiar Features.

The superior court opened with a little spice this morning. Judge Baker presiding. The case entitled Island Savings Bank vs. John Dunphy was in order. M. A. Sullivan represented the plaintiff and J. A. Sullivan the defendant. The former said he was not ready for trial and had been given to understand by counsel on the other side that the trial would not be held at this time, but he desired to make a show of doing something; in fact, he handed the court a letter from defendant's counsel to that effect. Defendant's counsel said the case had been hanging fire a year, and insisted on going to trial as assigned. The other side declaring that it could not go to trial, the court said it did not propose to be used to help deceive clients and the case was called and defaulted. The court then said that the letter, which he had not allowed to be read in court, was not creditable for a member of the Newport bar to write.

The case of Thomas Carr Watson vs. Sarah Briggs et als was then called and was ready for trial. A jury was empanelled, composed of J. B. Parsonage, who was made foreman; W. S. S. DeCoursey, George L. Ferris, H. B. Wood, Elinar Johnson and D. B. Burkhshaw of Newport; W. E. Petty and W. C. Wilbur of Little Compton, F. C. Bliss, W. H. Ford and John Silvia of Tiverton and W. H. Sisson of Middletown. The other jurors were excused until Monday at 11 a. m.

Mr. Sheffield, for the plaintiff, stated that the case was a suit to recover two parcels of land in Jamestown. He expected to show that the plaintiff never departed from his title, that he purchased the property in 1885 and the following year David T. Briggs obtained possession of it under an arrangement by which he was to pay $1,200. The sum of $400 cash was paid and $800 went on interest at five per cent. The interest had been paid for one or two years, but nothing since. Upon the death of Briggs notice was served on the heirs, who have not complied with the terms of the proposed sale.

The trial had progressed up to the noon recess, to the point where the court took the case under advisement, to determine whether it was one for the jury to settle on questions of fact or for the court to settle on law points.

The feature of the trial was the method in which some people keep records and how some do not keep them at all. All the records in the case were on scraps of paper, despite the fact that the case extended over a period of nearly a quarter of a century. The plaintiff produced his records out of a small envelope, which had done service in the mails and which he carried in his pocket. The records were not numerous and the small scraps of paper were folded with some care. Another record was his mind, and here he carried perhaps the best apparent record, for concerning one of the papers shown, though in his own handwriting he could not determine the date within three years. On the other side records were not voluminous and were likewise a few scraps of paper. But the mind here had gone and it was stated that before death about everything in the way of records was hidden where they have never been found.

In the opening of the case the chain of titles was put in, in reverse order, and then the agreement for the sale of the place to the deceased Briggs. The defense was asked for a receipt from the defendant, which was identified by the plaintiff as containing the agreement of the proposed sale. Witness thought the date was 1884, which would be a year before the witness is on record as acquiring the property. When he was prevailed upon to see that he had failed to read his writing correctly, he thought the figure was a six and would not have it seven, as his counsel thought it should be. Then witness went on telling of the payments which had been made, from a record on the back of the note. He said there had been various loans and notes during this period, on which various payments had been made, and that all these notes but one had been cancelled. The last payment on the proposed sale note was in March, 1898, the previous year a small payment having been made to keep it from "running out". There had been payments on other notes by cross accounts for hay, chickens, eggs, digging cellar, in general. It was a complicated account, lacking definite bookkeeping.

On cross-examination it was brought out that there were hay, freight and boat accounts, not amounting to a large sum, but which had never been credited anywhere, witness said, because there had not been an accounting since they accrued. Witness thought Briggs took possession of the farm a year after the witness acquired it, and that there was an original agreement to sell, and later the receipt with certain conditions. Witness supplied the original agreement as defense, as already stated, the receipt.

The plaintiff had but one other witness, Deputy Sheriff King, regarding the service of the notice of the suit.

Mr. Nolan, for the defense, said he expected to prove right of possession and that there were credits for work and material which should have been made and were not made. The contention was also set up that the note had nothing to do with this particular transaction.

J. K. Sullivan was called and said the deceased and he were partners in the Hull Cove farm; that he saw Watson at the Briggs house, after Briggs's death, regarding the money due on the real estate. He was speaking at the time for Mrs. Briggs. Asked for a bill of particulars, but Watson said he did not know that he could produce an itemized account. He knew of hay having been taken off the Hull farm for Watson. In time Watson came to witness with a deed of the place, which he said he could have for $800. He would not leave the deed for examination, though witness had a check ready to pay it. At that time he did not know what had been done in Jamestown on the same proposition to sell.

Amos L. Peckham said he was auctioneer at the Hull farm. He turned over to Briggs about $190 which he took in at the sale, and Briggs turned it across the table to Watson. Mr. Watson had previously given evidence of giving credit on a note for about $250 from the receipts of this sale. W. Briggs, son of the deceased, said he had lived 15 years on the farm. His father had always had hay; his father had repaired and improved the house and kept it insured. The farm is more valuable today, being in the line of increased travel. His father took possession two months after Watson purchased it. Had never heard of the notes until today. His father hid his books before he died. Watson had had produce, chickens and eggs right along. He had offered to sell the place to his mother for $1,200, and to him for $1,100; $400 of this was to be on a note and the other $800 she was to secure from J. K. Sullivan.

Mary Lovenge, who lived at the Hull farm, said she had seen Watson take hay for five years. Kept no account of it.

The defense rested at 12:07.

Mr. Sheffield thought it was a question of law, not of fact, and the jury was sent out while the law was discussed. Mr. Sheffield said the title still remained, by undisputed evidence, Mr. Nolan thought it was a question of fact. Mr. Watson had been very undecided regarding his testimony and had not given credit where credits should have been given. He thought it reasonable that if there had been payments in the past few years the heirs had a reasonable interest in the estate now and should be given a chance to purchase the place. He argued that there had been an extension of time in the original terms and that it was a question for the jury.

The court viewed the situation from the various legal aspects and then announced that a recess would be taken and he would defer announcing his decision as to whether the jury would take it or not until after the recess.

When the court came in this afternoon at 2 o'clock Judge Baker decided to let the case go to the jury and Mr. Nolan at once began his argument for defendant, to be followed by Mr. Sheffield for the plaintiff. When the court adjourns this afternoon it will be to 11 o'clock Monday morning.

The Garham Company had two designs on exhibition last week, but this evening there will be several displays and probably a decision will be reached.

—Mr. William Allen is still confined to his home on Pleasant street and will be compelled to forego the observance of the forty-eighth anniversary of beginning business as a barber in Newport. The anniversary occurs tomorrow and for the first time in many years Mr. Allen will be unable to receive the congratulations of his customers and friends at his shop.

—The Board of Health will have a public hearing this evening at the City Hall, to learn how the neighbors feel about the proposed location of the tuberculosis home on Friendship street. The Newport Hospital, in accordance with the new law, has asked permission of the Board of Health to locate the home there and the Board is to see how people feel about it.

Campbell of the Russell Sage Foundation, of Demarest, Ga., and the "Prevention of Blindness" by George A. Hubbell of New York, ex-secretary of the committee on prevention of blindness of the New York Association for the Blind.

BODY WASHED ASHORE.

Crowley, a Private at Fort Warren, Drowned a Month Ago.

QUINCY, Mass., June 11.—The badly decomposed body of a man which was washed ashore at Wollaston Beach today, was later identified as that of Cornelius Crowley, a private in the Ninth artillery, stationed at Fort Warren. Crowley was drowned when a boat containing several men capsized in the harbor about a month ago. He was 25 years old and leaves relatives in Ireland.

IN HONOR OF HER GUEST.

Thursday evening Miss Lillian Crowell entertained a large party at her home on Thames street, in honor of her cousin, Miss Margaret Cooney of Boston, who left for her home in that city today. The parlor was decorated for the occasion with palms and potted plants. Vocal and instrumental music and recitations were given by several guests and there were games and dancing. Crowell's orchestra furnishing the music and Mr. Dwyer the prompting. Miss Crowell and Miss Cooney gave piano selections and the Misses Aniotes rendered several violin selections which made a decided hit. At midnight the gathering sat down to supper, the table decorations consisting of carnations. Afterwards there was general dancing and a cotillion, the favors being pretty.

FISH NOTES.

There seems to be nothing but mackerel to the fish business today. The arrivals are: Reliance 500, Hockomock 900, John M. Keen 3,200, Eddie Minot 650 and John Gilbert 400.

According to the latest reports of the fish agents two of their number have been raised to the rank of heroes. The first was Ike Price, for rushing out of a restaurant recently and stopping a runaway horse. The second is Abner Tripp, now on his honeymoon in Little Compton, because he dared to get married. Everybody thought he was only fooling.

There is a big gathering of netters about Hammett's and Pinniger's docks and a few others, with one seiner, are at anchor in the harbor. The netters tie up to the dock and go not make the showing that the seiners do, but there are many of them.

REV. MR. NELSON TO LEAVE NEWPORT.

Rev. Carl J. Nelson of the Swedish Methodist Episcopal church has received permission from Bishop Quayle to take a vacation, to go to his former home in Stromstad, Sweden, to settle the affairs of his father, who died there last April. He will sail on steamer Baltic, the same steamer on which Rev. Dr. Porter sails, Saturday, June 19, and expects to be away some months. He will probably not return to Newport, but will take an appointment in the annual Conference next April.

Temporarily his place at the Swedish Methodist Episcopal Church here will be filled by Elmer Larsen, a student in Evanston Theological Seminary. It is expected, however, that a permanent appointment will be made later and a minister, now at Spokane, Washington, is expected to come here.

"A JULY ANNIVERSARY."

Miss Corinne Cassard, Daughter of Chaplain William G. Cassard, U. S. N., Wins Silver Badge.

Miss Corinne Cassard, aged 13, daughter of Chaplain William G. Cassard, U. S. N., has been awarded a prize, a silver badge, in the July St. Nicholas League, contest for the following sketch, entitled "A July Anniversary:"

Since the Spanish-American War, the third of July has been with our family an anniversary of great interest. You will remember that on the third of July, 1898, Admiral Cervera's fleet tried to escape from the harbor of Santiago de Cuba. One of the ships which intercepted them was the Indiana, of which the late Admiral Taylor was in command. My father was the chaplain upon that ship. Mother, my little baby sister, who was then three months old, and I were in Baltimore at this time. Father had never seen the baby, as he had gone south in January. You may be sure that it was a time of the greatest anxiety for my mother, for at that time, of course, I was too young to fully understand. Mother knew that our ships were blockading the harbor of Santiago, and that they were waiting for Cervera's fleet to come out. She also knew that when they did come out there would be a fight and that Father might be wounded, or even killed. She would have been more anxious than she was on that gloomy third had she known that the Indiana was then playing an active part in intercepting Cervera's fleet. The fleetest Spanish ship was forced upon the coast, several others blew up, and one burning ship ran ashore. It required hard work to rescue the Spaniards from the burning ships, and I am proud to say that my father had a part in this humane task. It was a very dangerous position to be in as the boat which was provided for the purpose of taking the Spaniards from the exploding ships was small, open, and a good target for shots. My father received a bronze medal for this act, as did all the others who accompanied him. My father is the only chaplain in the service who received such a medal. My little sister was named Indiana after the battleship which had brought father safely through the war. I feel a great thankfulness when I remember that the danger father was exposed to and mother's anxiety are now things of the past.

VERDICT FOR PLAINTIFF.

Heirs of John Malgan Dispossessed and Levin Street Property Goes to Short Heirs.

The jury in the Trulsen-Sullivan case, which had been before the superior court two days Thursday afternoon returned a verdict for the plaintiff, with 10 cents costs. This puts the property in the hands of the heirs of Frances Short and dispossesses the heirs of John Malgan, who have been receiving the rents from the property on Levin street since his death. The verdict in effect says that Mr. Malgan had not rights in the property, which he held for seven years and who has been spindalily in the hands of his heirs for the past nine years. Possession goes to the grandchildren of Francis Short who lives in California.

JOHN SHORT.

Former Well Known Newport Character Recalled by a Case Before the Court.

The Trulsen-Sullivan case in the superior court, brings to mind a name once well known in Newport, that of John Short, son of the Francis Short who owned the property in question. John Short was a well known stone mason and considered a good one. He worked on the county jail when it was modernized, some time in the early fifties. Later it was found that he had collected from many houses a great variety of household goods which he stored and the owners of many of which were never found. They were taken largely from the cottages of summer residents and the discovery of the long continued robberies startled the then quiet community.

Short was arrested and lodged in the jail he had helped to build. But he did not stay there; he dug himself out, and the condition of the population became somewhat tense, as no one knew what the fugitive might do. He must have food, and many petty thefts of food supplies were charged to him, the people being in fear that something dreadful would happen until Short was finally captured. He had made his headquarters in the Ocean House, it being winter, and was finally found through his tracks in the snow. He was the Dick Turpin of Newport at that time, which was in the late fifties, supposedly about 1859. According to City Sergeant Westcott Short is still, or was until lately, living in or near Boston.

His two sisters, who married two brothers named Rose and later went to California, also moved to Boston, not being on good terms with their stepmother, who had a life interest in the estate on Levin street. The stepmother died September 28, 1880, at the age of 83. The estate then, according to the will, descended to the daughter Alice, and from her to her children. The present heirs, according to the declaration, are Mrs. Houkan Trulsen of Mountain View, Joseph and Anthony Ross of San Francisco, John Ross of Colima, Frank Ross of Antioch, and Thomas and Louise Ross of Mountain View, all in California.

The land in the present case is only half the original Short estate. Last year, at the June term, there was tried the case of Mrs. Houkan Trulsen vs. George Mahoney, and by direction of the court a verdict in favor of plaintiff was rendered by the jury.

LOW BID FOR CITY NOTE.

First Trust Turned Over Direct to Sinking Fund Commission.

Petition Against New Location Strikes Another Blow at the Junk Trust.

The Board of Aldermen held its weekly meeting Thursday evening, Mayor Boyle presiding and all the members present. The junk trust received another blow. In the petition against its new location on Heath court. The first trust fund was turned over to the Sinking Fund Commission. The bid for the city treasurer's note for $60,000 brought the remarkably low bid of 2.92 per cent. The Providence Telephone Company had a call from both the mayor and the chief of police for changing poles without permission, apologized in a letter and was then given permission to make the change. The Old Colony Street Railway Company was authorized to lay a conduit in Ledge road.

The weekly pay rolls were approved, as follows: Streets and highways, $1,-; 503.37; streets and highways, for Broadway pavement, $38.49; police, $705.67; fire department, $425.77; city officers, $179.25; public buildings, $11.54; firemen in theatres, $36.

A resolution was passed authorizing the residents of Extension street to renumber their houses, starting with 1 at the harbor end of the south side and running to Spring street. Extension and West Extension streets have been made one and this provides for one numbering instead of two.

A resolution was passed authorizing the city treasurer to pay to the Sinking Fund Commissioners the $15,893 appropriated for sinking funds.

A petition was received from Joseph T. Ray and about a dozen others, residents of Heath court, protesting against the granting of a junk license to any one, to be located on that court.

Later the petition of Morris Adler and Joe Dangin, for transfer of their junk keepers' licenses to 3 Heath court, came up. Mr. Mahoney said that as practically every resident on the court objected in the petition, the board could do nothing. Mayor Boyle asked if the license was not to be transferred to Aronson's and Mr. Adler said the place was too small. Mayor Boyle said a majority of the residents in the proposed location objected to the junk shop and under the law the board could not grant the location. Another week would be allowed to secure a new location. Mr. Adler wished to talk, but the mayor said it was useless to talk; the board could do nothing for them.

Licenses were granted as follows: Michael Jopetas, peddling; Archie W. Sleeper, John Gorecaly and John Cunningas, selling ice cream from carts; A. Cappuccilli and Mary Williams, intelligence offices; hack drivers 2, wagon drivers 2. The application of Adolph Morowits for a peddler's license was laid on the table until Morowits should appear.

Bids were opened for the city treasurer's note for $60,000, to be issued June 14 and run to September 3, as follows:

Kountz Bros., New York 3.10 per cent. discount.

Blake Bros. & Co., Boston, 2.94 per cent.

Loring, Tolman & Tupper, Boston, 3 per cent.

George Mixter, Boston, 2.92 per cent.

Second National Bank, Boston, 3 per cent.

Estabrook & Co., Boston, 3 per cent.

Bond & Goodwin, Boston, 3.08 per cent.

Hunt, Saltonstall & Co., Boston, 2.97 per cent.

Aquidneck National Bank, Newport, 2.62 per cent.

The bid of the Aquidneck National Bank was accepted, being a tie for low with George Mixter, who had the note last month. There was a bid from Parsons Sons & Co., New York, for 3 per cent and $32 bonus, but it was not considered because it specified for payment of the note in New York, while the others all bid on payment in Boston.

A petition was received from Janet Christie, executrix of the will of Maria Stallburg, asking that $200 be received for the care of the burial lot of testator in the Old cemetery. A resolution was passed accepting the money and authorizing the Commissioners of Sinking Funds to receive the money. This is the first fund turned direct to the Sinking Fund Commissioners, as it is the first to come in since the commission organized to do business.

A petition from J. H. Barton, for a 132-foot extension of the sewer in Washington street extended, was referred to the street commissioner. Alderman Allen desired it referred with power, as he said the commissioner said he had funds to do the work, but it was referred without power, to be reported on later.

A communication was received from the Providence Telephone Company, through Manager Wright, stating that the company did not intend to do anything not right and was sorry if it had. It appears that Mr. H. H. Archbeloss, having purchased a lot on the south side of Harrison avenue, asked the company to move the pole line, seven poles, across the street, and thinking this was a private matter it had not asked permission to do so. It asked permission in this communication.

UNHAPPINESS DISPELLED.

Men and Women Unanimous About It.

Many women weep and wail and refuse to be comforted because their once magnificent tresses have become thin and faded. Many men incline to profanity because the flies bite through the thin thatch on their craniums. It will be good news to the miserable of both sexes, to learn that Newbro's Herpicide has been placed upon the market. This is the new scalp germicide and antiseptic that acts by destroying the germ or microbe that is the underlying cause of all hair destruction. Herpicide is a new preparation, made after a new formula on an entirely new principle. Anyone who has tried it will testify as to its worth. Try it yourself and be convinced. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

CARDINALS HONOR AMERICA.

Join in Singing "Star Spangled Banner" at Banquet in Rome.

ROME, June 10.—A remarkable tribute was paid today to America, when at a banquet in connection with the celebration of the Jubilee of the American College all the guests, including the cardinals, rose to their feet at the first strains of the "Star Spangled Banner" and the members of the Sacred College joined with fervor in singing the chorus, with which they showed familiarity. Many national airs were sung and all were cheered, but none with the enthusiasm which greeted that of America.

After giving a toast in honor of the guests Mgr. Kennedy, who presided, asked Archbishop Farley to propose the toast to the Pope. The archbishop compared the pontificate of Pius X with those of his predecessors of the same name and declared that the present pontificate surpassed all. He made special reference to the manner in which the pontiff when summoned by Christendom, had guarded against the so called modernism. As was the case under the reign of Pius VI and Pius VII, the Pope has been made to suffer through France, the eldest daughter of the church.

Archbishop O'Connell proposed the toast to the United States. He described the love the people had for the church and the Pope, and especially their love for their country. Riches, the development of industries and the spread of commerce, he said, are the supports of the country, but without the vital spirit of religion a country is without a soul. The greatest security in America against the dangers of license, he declared, consists in the liberty of the church.

Bishop Burke of St. Joseph, Mo., spoke in the name of the alumni.

GRANT HEARS REBEL YELL.

Confederates Welcome Son of the Man Who Defeated Them.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 10.—A frenzied demonstration of welcome by the men in gray for the son of the man who defeated them marked the final scene of the annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans today. In the reviewing stand during the parade stood General Frederick Dent Grant of the United States Army. A cavalry division approached and its commanding officer, old and grizzled, peered steadily at General Grant, a moment. Then he turned in his saddle and yelled: "Come on, you kids, here's General Grant come to life again in his son."

With an old-time rebel yell the division charged on the stand and the men jostled one another for an opportunity to shake the hand of the son of their old-time enemy. From that moment every gray-clad veteran who could reach the stand rushed up to do the same. The stocky army officer's gray eyes filled with tears and his shoulders shook with emotion as he murmured: "God bless you all, boys."

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT PRAISED.

Major General Barry Reports Non-Existence of Yellow Fever in Cuba.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Touching the efficient administration of the medical department of the army, that occupied Cuba during the late intervention, the interesting statement is made in the final report of Major General Barry, just made public, that during the two and a half years his command was in the island, it had a much lower non-effective rate than troops stationed in the United States, enjoying the comforts and conveniences of modern sanitation, excellent barracks and other conveniences. On leaving Cuba, April 1, there was not a case of yellow fever on the island.

PERSONALS.

....Miss Clara Clemens, daughter of Mark Twain, will make an American concert tour the coming season under the management of R. E. Johnston.

....The latest report is that Mme. Sembrich will make her operatic farewell in Berlin early in the coming autumn, her only prior engagement being a private appearance in London at the home of William Waldorf Astor.

....Governor George H. Prouty of Vermont has issued a proclamation designating Sunday, July 4, as "Champlain Sunday." He recommends that "on that day appropriate reference be made in divine worship in all churches to the discovery by a Christian explorer of the territory which Almighty God vouchsafed to our fathers for their homes."

....The Wai Wu Pu at Pekin entertained the American legation staff and the heads of the other legations at an elaborate dinner in honor of Mr. Rockhill. This was the first time in China's history that a departing minister has been thus officially honored. It is construed as highly significant of the Chinese government's desire for the closest and most cordial relations with America.

....John Noble, who resigned a year ago after 33 years in service, as clerk of the supreme judicial court for Suffolk county, Mass., died Thursday at his home in Roxbury at the age of 79 years. Mr. Noble was born in Dover, N. H., and graduated from Harvard and the Harvard Law School. He was a member of the Board of Overseers of Harvard College and identified with many historical organizations.

....Vice Admiral Uriu, of the Japanese navy, and Baroness Uriu, who is a graduate of Vassar College, were guests of honor during the commencement exercises at Vassar. An interesting incident of the day was the presentation by the baroness to Vassar College of a large silver bowl, decorated in enamel and hammered relief work. The bowl was given to the baroness by the Empress of Japan as a token of her esteem, and when the Empress learned that the baroness was to visit America she caused word to be sent to her that she might give the bowl to her college if she so wished.

....By a strange coincidence Rev. Charles Ephraim Rich, a noted Unitarian divine of the Pacific slope, died in Oakland, Cal., within a few minutes of the time when Edward Everett Hale expired in Boston. Mr. Rich was Dr. Hale's assistant pastor in the Boston clergyman's first pastorate and showed throughout his life the influence which the great preacher had upon him. The two men were lifelong friends and kept up through their busy careers a correspondence, time and distance not lessening the high regard in which each held the other. Dr. Rich was born in Boston 75 years ago.

MEADOWBROOK VICTORIOUS.

Add Another Winning to Their Excellent English Record by Defeating Continental Players.

The Meadow Brook polo players added another fine victory to their excellent English record at Runelagh, England, Thursday, by defeating Comte Jean de Madre's team of Continental players in the first round of an open cup series, by 14 goals to 1. Though a useful team, the losers are not quite in the first flight, but they own some exceptionally fast ponies and on this score were excepted to make a much better showing than they did.

As a matter of fact, there was nothing to choose between the combinations as regards mounts, but when it came to playing polo there was only one side in the game. To sum up, the Americans made rings around their opponents all through. For the winners the Waterbury brothers were responsible for five goals each and Henry Payne Whitney and Devereux Milburn each hit two.

The match was contested in beastly weather, rain falling nearly the whole time. The atmosphere, too, was very raw and the light was more like that generally associated with a November day. There was, however, a smart assemblage to witness the play. Many Americans were present, among whom were Mrs. Henry Payne Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Stoddard, Mr. and Mrs. F. Jay Mackey, Mr. Hugh Inman, Mr. and Mrs. M. Harrison of New York; Mrs. Sydney Carpenter of Philadelphia; Miss Andrews, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. P. Havemeyer, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Paton and Mr. Ogden Mills.

Nearly all English polo players were there also, and while the American score was mounting up Captain E. D. Miller, a famous Rugby and Hurlingham player, approached a group, consisting of L. E. Stoddard, Ogden Mills and Payne Whitney, with the remark: "You'll have to take our fellows over to America and teach them how to score." At once Mr. Stoddard smiled that nice, quiet smile of his.

Mr. Stoddard and Foxhall Keene later on played in another tie for the same cup with Captain Jenner and F. Gill, as the Beauchamp Hall B team, against the Royal Horse Guards, and they also came out with flying colors. Beauchamp Hall, after leading at the half time by 3 to 2 goals, eventually rode off winners by 6 goals to 4.

The teams in both matches were:—Meadow Brook—Laurence Waterbury, "Monte" Waterbury, Henry Payne Whitney and Devereux Milburn, back.

Tigers—Comte Jean de Madre, U. O. Thynne, Captain H. H. Mathewlanowe and Colonel Chunda Singh, back. The last named is a famous Indian polo ist.

B Team—Captain L. C. D. Jenner, L. E. Stoddard, Foxhall Keene and F. A. Gill, back.

Royal Horse Guards—Captain G. G. S. Bowlby, Lord A. Innes-Ker, Captain H. E. Brassey and J. Harrison, back.

The winners of Thursday's matches will oppose each other Saturday, and the successful combination, which, on all form, should prove to be the Meadow Brooks, will oppose the old Cantabs, last year's champions, or Roehampton, in the final.

MIDDLETOWN

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Mr. George Manchester of Wickford has been recently in town, spending a few days visiting relatives and friends.

The new grading about the town house is adding much to the general appearance of the building. A fine circular drive by the front door is in process of construction and is to be continued to the side entrance. Two good-sized maple trees have been set out on the front lawn. The work is being done by Captain J. P. Cotton of Newport.

Mr. Abram A. Brown, who has recently purchased a large barn, has had it removed on rollers from the Durfee place in Portsmouth to his farm on upper Third Beach road. The work was done by J. K. Sullivan of Newport.

The stormy weather interfered so seriously with the attendance at the meeting of Aquidneck Grange Thursday evening that it was decided to postpone the report of the building committee until the latter part of the month. The members of the committee—Charles H. Ward, William C. Hubbell and Joseph A. Peckham—were present but no regular meeting was held.

A pleasant informal surprise was given Mrs. Lydia Hart this afternoon by a number of neighbors and friends, who came in to assist in celebrating her 78th. birthday. She is spending the week with one of her twin sons, Mr. William Y. Hart, and family on Wapping road.

Madame Louise Bonat arrived this week from Philadelphia and has opened her summer villa, "Caprice," at Stony brook, for the season.

Mrs. James T. Conover of Concord, N. H., has been spending a few days in Middletown, preparing to open her cottage on Indian avenue.

CAEMENTIUM

"Sticks Everything, But is Not Sticky."

Caementium is a chemically true cement which hardens as it dries, and when dry is not affected by fire or water. It will effectively mend a child's toy or leg of a chair; a metal cruet or a Dresden ornament; a glass salad bowl or a wash basin; a loose knife, handle or a picture frame; a marble clock or fireplace, etc., etc. It is the only adhesive suitable for joining woodwork exposed to moisture, for use in cold storages, laundries, alkali and other works, where animal glues are useless; also for sanitary work in joining pipes, etc., to earthen ware and as a permanent pointing for tiled work. It is a glue, cement, solder and liquid porcelain combined. The breaking strain of Portland cement is very great. Briquettes of Portland cement which breaking at 536 in the first trials required 576 to rebreak them after being joined with Caementium. Marble joined with Caementium is stronger at the join then elsewhere. Small cans for household use ,25c. and in one pound cans for commercial use.

LIMITS THE HOLDING.

Substitute Bill Moved Embodying Public Franchise League's Desires.

BOSTON, June 10.—When the Boston Holding Company bill was reached in the Massachusetts house of representatives today, Representative Washburn of Worcester moved his substitute bill, embodying the desires of the public franchise league. It is understood that a vote on the bill will not be taken before next Monday.

The Boston holding company bill is the measure which has recently passed the senate and which was suggested by Governor Draper as a solution of the problem of the New Haven Railroad's control of the Boston & Maine stock, now held by John L. Billard, of Meriden, Conn. The substitute offered by Representative Washburn limits the holding and acquisition of Boston & Maine stock to the amount now held by Mr. Billard.

MURDER WILL OUT.

(New York Tribune.)

The moral quality of the transactions through which the American Sugar Refining Company, popularly known as the Sugar Trust, kept the doors of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company closed was of a piece with the moral quality of the actions of the agents of the same trust through which the government was defrauded of $2,000,000 by means of false scales. They are two of the most damaging circumstances ever brought out regarding the conduct of an American corporation, and they call for some act of reprobation by the present management of the corporation involved that will set it right in the public eyes. The present officers of the company have broken with the company's past of cynical secrecy in many important respects; they can do nothing better than to make that break complete and patent.

The revelations in regard to the short-weight scales supply a commentary upon the revelations regarding the trick by which the rival plant in Philadelphia was closed. Many are too prone to dismiss cheating in the realm of high finance as mere "smartness," but here we have an illustration that goes hard in hand with the vulgar forms of cheating that the agents or the management which stoops to one is not above the other; that the moral sense blunted at one end is likely to prove dull at the other; that, to be specific, those who would trick the Philadelphia refinery owners out of their property would also systematically trick the government with short-weight scales and are of the same kidney with the cheating grocer.

For the Philadelphia owners were tricked out of their property. The trick brought several men to ruin and one to suicide. The history of it was all told to a jury, which could have assessed, under the Sherman act, triple damages of $20,000,000 against the Sugar Trust. It was the kind of story to put the jury in the mood for a punitive verdict, and so a compromise has been effected. The way the Philadelphia refinery was closed was this: Adolph Segal, who had built it as a rival to the Sugar Trust, needed to raise money for his various enterprises. He offered as collateral a majority of the shares in his refinery company, together with certain other stocks. Gustav Kissel, supposed by Segal to be an independent capitalist, but really an agent of the American Sugar Refining Company, loaned him the money he required, $1,250,000, with the proviso that he, Kissel, during the term of the loan should name the directors of the sugar refining company, the majority of whose stock he held as collateral. The assent of Segal enabled the Sugar Trust, which he thought to rival, to choose the directors of his own company. Kissel named himself and three clerks as directors, and they voted not to open Segal's refinery until the loan was paid. Segal was ruined, and his ruin brought down a real estate company in Philadelphia, whose president thereupon took his own life.

Now, it is such methods as these that are responsible for anti-corporation agitation. The people of this country are determined to purge its business of dishonorable tricks to ruin competitors. Such performances do incalculable harm to honestly conducted business corporations. They awaken widespread suspicion. They make the public ready to listen to agitators. Fortunately, however, there is ample reason for believing that the ruining of the Philadelphia refining company and the defrauding of the government by false scales are no more typical of corporation morality than Captain Kidd's proceedings are typical of the morality of the seas today. The Sugar Trust was a one-man corporation of a peculiar type. Its management was noted for its secrecy, its cynicism and its contempt of public opinion. Whoever was individually responsible, its spirit inevitably to such methods in seeking illegitimate advantages as have just been strikingly revealed in two specific instances. Its like is going of has gone. Its present management is known to be deeply sensible of the faults of the past and to be earnestly bent upon correcting them, the process having begun before the short-weight scales revelations. The salutary feature of the whole episode for corporation management in general is that the moral law is shown to have its penalties for corporations as for individuals. For the former as for the latter, murder will out.

PLEASURES OF TROUT FISHING.

(The Outing Magazine.)

Catching trout is not the only thing that makes fishing a mountain stream worth while. The early morning ride to the place where you are to commence your day's sport is in itself pleasant to a degree wholly missed by those who take their rides later in the day. During the early hours of the day the air is fresh and invigorating; every leaf and spear of grass by the roadside sparkles with dew, and the forest is pungent with pleasant and health giving odors that are dispelled as the sun rises above the tree tops and dries the moisture on leaf and twig. As you drive quietly along you may have the good fortune to see a deer browsing in a roadside clearing. He stands watching you for a moment or two; then, turns quickly and, with graceful leaps, disappears among the trees. An old fox steps out into the road and trots boldly along ahead of you for some distance; but, when he discovers that you are gaining on him, he turns for an instant, shows his teeth with a snarl, and then slinks away into the bushes. Further along a partridge with her brood of chicks has also ventured out into the road and, when she, too, discovers that you are drawing uncomfortably near, there is a great to-do. With outspread wings, and uttering the plaintive cry made by a mother partridge when she believes her young to be in danger, she hastily collects the members of her family and leads and drives them back into the security of the woods.

DAMAGES AMOUNT TO $50,000.

Fire in Anthony & Cowell's Furniture Establishment, Providence.

PROVIDENCE, June 11.—Furniture, valuable rugs and building fixtures, to the amount of $50,000, were damaged by a fire which broke out in the furniture establishment of Anthony & Cowell, at the corner of Weybosset and Snow streets today, and which at one time threatened to level to the ground the entire block. The fire started on the fifth floor of the building, in a room devoted to rugs and carpets. The flames swept quickly through the mahogany room and down to the fourth floor. It was a very difficult fire to handle and during its progress several firemen were overcome by smoke and cut by falling glass. Water did considerable damage to the lower floors. Four years ago the same company suffered a severe loss by a fire which completely gutted their building. The cause of today's fire is a mystery to the police, although spontaneous combustion is generally supposed to be the cause. The loss is covered by insurance.

STRIKE ON GOULD ROADS.

Outcome of Meeting of Brotherhood of Firemen and Engineers.

TEXARKANA, Ark., June 11.—A call for a general strike on the Gould system of railroads in the southwest, is believed not an improbable outcome of the meetings of the general committees of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen in session here, discussing controversies with the Texas & Pacific Railway.

Timothy Shea, vice president of the order, who is presiding over the sessions, says efforts to adjust the several disagreements involving a demand that a discharged employee be re-instated and the right of order to represent its members in disputes be recognized, give but small prospects for an amicable settlement. While declining to be quoted as to the probability of a general strike, Mr. Shea declares that "under the laws of our organization we have the right to involve the entire system of railroads in that jurisdiction."

REPORTS AS VALUABLE AIDS.

Harriman Kept in Touch With Public Sentiment by Managers' Records.

CHICAGO, June 11.—The way E. H. Harriman keeps constantly in touch with the public sentiment was disclosed by Julius Kruttschnitt, director of maintenance and operations for the Harriman roads, who says that each general manager of the Harriman lines receives current issues of all newspapers and periodicals published in his territory. A competent employe in the office of every general manager, after a careful reading of the publications, tabulates and compiles a record showing the attitude toward railways and other corporations in each publication.

Twice a month each general manager telegraphs Mr. Kruttschnitt a brief synopsis of public sentiment as reflected by the press. His report also shows that the number of publications examined, the percentage favorable, the percentage unfavorable, and the percentage which is neutral. He quotes also from criticisms, complaints, expressions of opinion and from special articles, as well as gives the trend of opinion as voiced in political and commercial centres.

The Chicago office of the Harriman lines consolidates the fortnightly reports of the general managers for telegraphic transmission to Mr. Harriman in New York. It is stated that Mr. Harriman regards the reports as valuable aids in detecting causes of friction between his railroads and the public and in applying corrective measures.

NEW STEAMSHIP SERVICE.

Direct Line to Be Started Between Philadelphia and Portugal.

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—It was announced today that a direct steamship service between this port and Portugal will be inaugurated by the Austro-American line, which will place three steamships in the service. It is the intention of the promoters of the new line to extend the service to Marseilles, Toulon and other French Mediterranean ports.

THE ANTONIO LOPEZ IN BAD POSITION.

and was lying in a bad position on the inner slope of the bar. The plates amidship were strained a little, but did not take in much water. A heavy south swell was running and this meant that the Lopez had no opportunity of freeing herself for the present.

After five hours of battling with the surf the 526 passengers were taken off in safety and landed in New York. The 102 cabin passengers were allowed to land at once, while those in the steerage were placed in care of the immigration authorities at Ellis Island.

The last persons to be taken off were about 20 Americans returning from a tour of Spain. Among them were Judge Powell of the supreme court of Manila and a number of school teachers, nurses and clerks stationed at Manila in the government employ, who had stopped in Spain on their journey homeward. Knowing that there was no immediate danger, they made light of the hardship of their unusual adventure and did much to quiet the excited immigrants.

The launching of life-boats from the shore was accomplished only after the life savers at Point of Woods and those at Quogue had battled hours with the surf. Preparations were made to bring the passengers off in the breeches buoy. A line was shot over the ship, but the crew was unable to reach it.

The transfer from the Antonio Lopez to tug Relief was without accident, although the passengers were greatly excited and many women and children had to be lifted over the rail and placed in the lifeboats. Six of these boats, three surf boats from the shore, under Captain Baker of the Volunteer Life-Saving Corps, and three manned by the crew of the Lopez made scores of trips, taking half a dozen each time, before all were saved.

The crews from the Point of Woods and Fire Island life saving stations remained on the beach all night, keeping fires burning and communicating as best they could with Captain Mir and his crew of 35, who are still on the vessel. Wrecking tug I. J. Merritt remained alongside all night with two lines to the steamer, which has a slight list to starboard after being washed over the sand bar. The Lopez was then lying broadside to the beach.

Captain Mir filled his tank in the stern with water to keep the sand from washing out from under the vessel. With the sand washed away from under her there was grave danger that the steamer would break in two. With daylight and a partial lifting of the heavy fog, the crew and the relief tugs, which were standing by with the Merritt, prepared to renew their efforts to relieve the Lopez at high tide.

IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

William E. Corey, His Wife and Manager of French Estate Injured.

PARIS, June 11.—The morning newspapers say that William E. Corey, president of the United States Steel Corporation, who was hurt in an automobile accident near Palaiseau yesterday, sustained injuries on the head and legs, but that his wounds are not serious.

It seems that the Corey automobile, in which Mr. and Mrs. Corey and M. Godilleau, manager of Mr. Corey's French estate were driving, was being conducted by a new chauffeur. The machine made a sharp turn, skidded and was overturned. M. Godilleau, who was sitting beside the chauffeur, was caught underneath the car. His skull was fractured and his chest was crushed. He was conveyed to the Chateau Vilgenis where the Coreys are living, in a desperate condition. Mrs. Corey also sustained contusions, but her condition is not grave.

Ambassador White called at the Chateau Vilgenis today and found that Mr. Corey had sustained a slight cut on the forehead and Mrs. Corey was bruised.

FORT WORTH, Tex., June 11.—According to advices received here early today by the despatcher's office of the Texas & Pacific Railroad cloudbursts occurred in sections west of Fort Worth last night, killing at least one person and injuring scores of others. It is reported that a passenger train on the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient was blown from the rails near Knox City. All wires are down. The man killed is an express messenger named Woodruff. It is claimed that all the rest of the passengers on the train were more or less injured.

TWO NEW RELIGIONS.

Professor Foster Says All Protestant Churches Will Soon be United.

CHICAGO, June 11.—That two new world religions will soon take the place of the present Christian denominations, was predicted yesterday by Professor George Burman Foster of the University of Chicago, whose resignation from the Baptist ministry is demanded by Rev. Johnstone Myers and other members of the Chicago Baptist ministers' conference.

Professor Foster declared that the present question of religious freedom points to a union of all the Protestant churches, with the Catholics against the free thinkers.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 11.—The new state law, providing that applicants for marriage licenses must undergo medical examination, except where the woman is 45 years old, went into effect yesterday. DAMAGES AMOUNT TO $50,000.

Fire in Anthony & Cowell's Furniture Establishment, Providence.

PROVIDENCE, June 11.—Furniture, valuable rugs and building fixtures, to the amount of $50,000, were damaged by a fire which broke out in the furniture establishment of Anthony & Cowell, at the corner of Weybosset and Snow streets today, and which at one time threatened to level to the ground the entire block. The fire started on the fifth floor of the building, in a room devoted to rugs and carpets. The flames swept quickly through the mahogany room and down to the fourth floor. It was a very difficult fire to handle and during its progress several firemen were overcome by smoke and cut by falling glass. Water did considerable damage to the lower floors. Four years ago the same company suffered a severe loss by a fire which completely gutted their building. The cause of today's fire is a mystery to the police, although spontaneous combustion is generally supposed to be the cause. The loss is covered by insurance.

Outcome of Meeting of Brotherhood of Firemen and Engineers.

TEXARKANA, Ark., June 11.—A call for a general strike on the Gould system of Railroads in the southwest, is believed not an improbable outcome of the meetings of the general committees of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen in session here, discussing controversies with the Texas & Pacific Railway.

Timothy Shea, vice president of the order, who is presiding over the sessions, says efforts to adjust the several disagreements involving a demand that a discharged employee be reinstated and the right of order to represent its members in disputes be recognized, give but small prospects for an amicable settlement. While declining to be quoted as to the probability of a general strike, Mr. Shea declares that "under the laws of our organization we have the right to involve the entire system of railroads in that jurisdiction."

SEATTLE'S NEW LAW.

Applicants For Marriage Licenses Must Undergo Medical Examination.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 11.—The new state law, providing that applicants for marriage licenses must undergo medical examination, except where the woman is 45 years old, went into effect yesterday. Ten couples appeared at the license clerks office with physicians certificates and two couples, when informed of the new law, said they would go to British Columbia to marry. County officials say the law will result in many Americans marrying in Canada.
